TWENTY-EIGHT DEAD; SCORES INJURED IN A THEATRE PANIC

Boy Shouted "Fire" and Hundreds Crushed Through Narrow Exit—Thirteen of Dead are Children—People Needlessly Crushed to Death.

Camonsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—Officials after investigating the Morgan opera house fire Saturday night, in which twenty-eight people were killed and scores wounded, declared today that the building was nothing less than a death trap. Manager C. F. Ferguson says that he doesn't feel that he was to blame for all regulations for the safety of patrons of the house were observed.

Camonsburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—Because of an inexcusable panic brought about in the local opera house by a small boy shouting "fire" when a defect occurred in the moving picture machine twenty-eight are dead, twenty-five are seriously injured, while more than that number are suffering from minor hurts. There was no danger from fire and had the crowd not lost their head and rushed to destruction in an attempt to get out of the house no one would have been injured.

The moving picture machine operator was about to conclude the first performance when a film parted. Some of the audience already had commenced to leave the building, and other persons were on the stairway coming up.

When a boy shouted "fire" and made for a narrow exit he was followed by Bohus Dubrowski, a foreign miner, a giant in proportions. In a moment there was a fighting, struggling mass after him. At the head of a narrow stairway, which led to the street, the foreigner tripped. As he rolled down the stairs he swept others before him who were waiting their turn to enter the theater and soon there was an indescribable pile of human beings at the foot of the steps battling like mad. With the exception of three persons all of the dead are local people.

Dubrowski's wild flight through the theater and his subsequent stumble down the stairs into those entering the building, was the beginning of the death struggling jam at the foot of the stairs. The bodies clogged the doorway. Men walked over them and fought for positions of safety until, overwhelmed by the weight from the moving mass, they too, were crushed to death.

When the doorway had been filled, still other persons walked over the bodies of those who had gone down, and breaking the glass transom over the door crawled through and dropped into the street.

During this time, Manager Ferguson had endeavored to stop the panic. Accompanied by his wife, he started for the stairs when the first alarm was given, but seeing there was no escape, then made his way to the stage. Calling loudly to the frightened people to follow him he led the way to the rear of the stage and fully three hundred escaped in this way.

The alarm had been quickly spread. Persons standing on the street at the entrance to the opera house endeavored to extricate struggling men and women from the rapidly rising pile of bruised and bleeding flesh, but to no purpose. An alarm of fire was sounded and firemen and police hurried to the scene. When they arrived they lent their efforts to saving those still within the building and to opening up the doorway. In ten minutes the opera house was empty and in half an hour twenty bodies had been recovered.

Of the twenty-six dead, thirteen were children, seven pupils in the public schools. Today it was decided by the school authorities to postpone for a week the opening of the schools.

Arthur McPeake, aged 20, whose name is among the dead, was passing, when the bodies began to pile up at the door. The young man rushed to the rescue and was in the act of dragging a body from the pile when a man came hurling down the stairs. He struck McPeake on the back, and the young man's neck was broken.

It was all over within a short time. Volunteer firemen, several policemen and a few level-headed citizens untangled the human mass. The unhurt and those slightly injured were pulled from the top of the pile. As they gained the street, they ran screaming like maniacs to all parts of the small town. Next came the more seriously injured, and these were sent home or taken to nearby houses,

ANNIVERSARY OF CENTRAL METHODIST CHURCH OF RALEIGH

Sixty-Year Celebrated Sunday in a Manner—Sermons by Bishop Hoss, of Nashville, Tenn.—Also Address by Julian S. Carr.

Special to Telegram. Raleigh, Aug. 28.—A notable feature of the celebration of the sixty-ninth anniversary of the founding of Central Methodist Episcopal church here was a powerful address Sunday afternoon by Gen. J. S. Carr, of Durham. It was addressed to the laymen of this aggressive congregation and was a forcible exhortation to the fullest Christian living and the most active and useful church activities.

The Perfect Christian Life was the theme of a powerful sermon by Bishop E. E. Hoss, Nashville, Tenn., one of the college of Bishops of the Southern Methodist Episcopal church, in connection with the celebration of the sixty-ninth anniversary of the founding of Central Methodist church. He extolled the Christian living that actuated the right thing from principle. A middling good man, he said, is no better and about on a par with a middling good egg. The happy and elevating effect of great occasions in one's life was impressed as blazing and establishing the course of life. At night Bishop Hoss delivered his famous address on "Facts and Forces in Methodism."

The anniversary services consisted of elaborate programs for Sunday school hour, the eleven o'clock service, and afternoon and evening services. Addresses and historical addresses and papers were special features, all under the direction of Rev. A. D. Wilcox, pastor of the church.

NEEDS $67 A DAY TO LIVE

Millionaire's Wife Says She Can't Get Along on Less.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Mrs. Rose Keeling Hutchins today fixed $67 a day as the lowest figure on which a millionaire's wife could live properly. This figure was arrived at when Mrs. Hutchins petitioned the Equity Court for consent to utilize her $1,000 a month allowance for a "pin money." She insisted that the allowance made by her invalid and millionaire husband was altogether too small to meet her expenses, and submitted an itemized table of expenditures to prove her contention. The principal items for the month are:

Servants, $242; auto, livery and chauffeur, $275; milk, $30; marketing, groceries and wine, $350; pew rent, $16; music, $15; confectionery, $5; charity, $15; theatre tickets, $10; summer club dues, $5; silver insurance, $5; message, $5; drugs and toilet articles, $20; flowers, $15; cleaning clothes, $20; physicians, $25; dentist, $5; traveling, $50; clothing for Mrs. Hutchins, $300; rent of summer cottage, $110; rent of Paris apartment, $110; taxes on Paris apartment, $15; books, $2; miscellaneous, $364. Total, $2,012.

In view of this documentary evidence it is recommended by Louis A. Dent, auditor of the District Supreme Court, that the allowance be increased to $2,500 a month, but with the injunction that Mrs. Hutchins meet all household expenditures, including medical expenses.

GREENSBORO POSTAL SAVINGS DEPOSITORY.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has designated fifty more postoffices of the first-class as postal savings depositories, among them were: Montgomery, Ala.; Texarkana, Ark.; Athens, Ga.; Paducah, Ky.; Shreveport, La.; Jackson, Miss.; Greensboro, N. C.; Greenville, S. C.; Bristol, Tenn.; Austin, Tex., and Petersburg, Va. The receipts in the postal savings offices at New York, Chicago, St. Louis and Boston, which opened for business on the 1st of August, it was announced at the department, amounted to a quarter of a million dollars at the end of the first three weeks.

while a few were rushed, unconscious, to the hospitals.

Then the rescuers came to the silent forms of those who had reached the fatal stairway first. One after another, the victims, many of them women and small children, were carried to the sidewalk. All had been suffocated and the faces showed terror.

MRS. FLEMING WILL ASK FOR ALIMONY

Special to Telegram. Raleigh, Aug. 28.—The order of Chief Justice Walter Clark leaving the children of Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Fleming in the hands of Fleming's brother A. H. Fleming, Louisburg, pending impending proceedings for divorce, and is to be considered and possibly modified by Judge R. B. Peebles September 1 in chambers here when counsel for Mrs. Fleming, who was Miss Nelle Crouch, daughter of H. F. Crouch, of the Postoffice department, Washington, will seek to obtain alimony for their client and regain possession of the children pending divorce proceedings in which she has just filed her complaint. She tenders bond for retention of the children within the jurisdiction of the North Carolina court and for proper maintenance in the event Fleming proves to be unable to provide necessary means. She alleges he is worth ten thousand dollars. Complaint in divorce case alleges habitual drunkenness in spite of three special treatments for drink habit, and most unbearable abuses and cruelty continuing for several years.

PICNIC OF SALVATION ARMY SUNDAY SCHOOL TODAY.

The Sunday school of the Salvation Army picnicked at Lindley Park today, going out this morning at 9:20 o'clock on special cars laden with good things to eat as well as a band of happy children. The children are spending the entire day at the park and will return late this afternoon on the special cars. Plenty of good things to eat and drink have been provided and the children are having the time of their lives.

Judge Ward Recovered.

Special to Telegram. Raleigh, Aug. 28.—Judge George W. Ward, who has been prevented by illness from holding any courts for several months, has so far recovered as to be able to resume official duties. His first court will be Edgecombe county beginning September 11, which he holds for Judge Ferguson, who will in turn, by permission of the governor, hold the Pender county court for a week beginning the same date.

MUCH INTEREST IN TRADE EXCURSION

Saturday afternoon in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce was held a meeting of business men interested in the trade excursion to be operated by Greensboro merchants in the near future. The committee appointed to look into the details made a most encouraging report and it was decided to get right behind the project and push it through. This morning the committee began canvassing the merchants to secure the names of those who wish to enter for the trip and ascertain the amount of advertising they wish to do. It is believed that from fifty to seventy-five merchants will go on the trip, which will last for two days and include all towns and villages in this section of the State.

CAPITAL

And Labor Placed on Trial Before Royal Commission Today.

London, Aug. 28.—Capital and labor were placed on trial today in the first hearing held by the Royal Commission, appointed to investigate the causes of the recent railroad strike and settle the differences between employer and employee. Representatives of the unions were first heard at Westminster. They presented statistics to show that the railroads had been paying a starvation wage to employees.

Cholera Spreading in Turkey.

Constantinople, Aug. 28.—There have developed within the last 24 hours no less than fifteen new cases of cholera. During the same period there have been fifteen deaths as a result of the dread scourge.

HONOR MEMORY OF VIRGINIA DARE

Special to Telegram. Raleigh, Aug. 28.—If a movement started by Rev. Robert Drane, D. D., president of the Roanoke Island Memorial Association, materializes as it promises to do there will be a splendid memorial pavilion erected there in honor of Virginia Dare, the first white child born in America. He is bringing influences to bear on the State Department of Education for the setting apart of a Virginia Dare Day in the public schools during the coming school year so that there can be an offering for a memorial fund to Virginia Dare to be used in erecting a permanent pavilion. The movement is being heartily seconded by leading citizens all over the State and whatever fund is raised in this way will be supplemented by private subscriptions. Rain interfered seriously this summer with the celebration of Roanoke Island Day.

WOULD JAIL FAKE DEAF

Real Afflicted Denounce Mendacity in That Form.

Harriburg, Aug. 28.—The twenty-fifth convention of the Pennsylvania Society for Advancement of the Deaf ended here today, and the delegates will go to the Carlisle Indian School and other places of interest. The convention's proceedings have been conducted exclusively in the sign language, the discussions being very animated at times.

Resolutions were adopted today favoring prosecution of those persons who beg for charity in pretense of being deaf and dumb and urging contributions for an endowment fund for the home at Doylestown.

The Board of Managers was given authority to select the next place of meeting. Pittsburg, Wilkes-Barre and Shamokia were suggested. Officers elected were as follows:

President, James S. Reider, Philadelphia; vice president, R. M. Backer, Johnstown; and F. C. Smiley, Williamsport; secretary, R. M. Zeigler, Philadelphia; treasurer, John Roach, Philadelphia.

FARMERS TO HOLD CONVENTION AT A. & M. COLLEGE

Experts will Discuss Topics of Much Interest During Three Day's Session—Women will Attend Also to Discuss Farm-Life Schools.

Special to Telegram. Raleigh, Aug. 28.—Tuesday morning out at the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts the State Farmers' Convention and Woman's Farm Life Convention will be welcomed by Gov. W. W. Kitchen, Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham and President D. D. Hill, of the A. & M. College. The farmers and their wives will have a three days session during which the most practical sort of topics will be considered under the leadership of some of the best experts that the country affords. Frank Shields of Scotland Neck, is president of the convention.

The work will cover the whole scope of farm life and some of the most notable speakers will be Editor Clarence Poe, of the Progressive Farmer; E. G. Moss, tobacco expert of the United States Department of Agriculture; A. G. Smith, tile drainage expert of the United States Department of Agriculture; D. E. Earle, cotton culture expert United States Department of Agriculture; Prof. J. C. McNutt, stock expert, A. & M. College; J. W. Shuford and the heads of divisions in the State Department of Agriculture, and others.

COUNCILMEN JOIN "KIDS" PLAY

Inspired by Playground Sights, One Sprains His Leg.

Chester, Pa., Aug. 28.—Members of City Council today visited the five children's playgrounds and found each of them well equipped. At the Thurlow playground, the largest and best equipped of the five, the visitors were received by General Henry Clay Cochran, Miss Mary Compton, supervisor, and Miss Mae McClintock, assistant. Fifty girls, under the leadership of Miss Compton, played various games, and gave several drills. At the Morton avenue playground the members of Council became so enthusiastic that they joined with the young folks in playing the games. In see-sawing, Select Councilman Harvey F. Lamb fell off the apparatus, spraining his leg. Dr. D. W. Jeffers, W. H. Rigby, E. L. Bartleson, William Provost, Jr., H. Louis Morris, Benjamin D. Wright, William J. Farley, members of Council, and all sedate business men, tried their skill on the horizontal bars.

REVOLUTIONARY PLOT IN HONDURAS CHECKED.

Porto Cortez, Honduras, Aug. 28.—A gigantic revolutionary plot against the administration of Honduras was unearthed August 19, when Theodore Hernandez and M. Urgota were arrested and letters found revealing the whereabouts of hidden arms and ammunition.

Hernandez is now in jail at San Pedro, where excitement is at fever heat. Urgota was escorted to the capital, Tegucigalpa, under an armed guard, where he was incarcerated.

Former President Davilla, who was forced from the executive's chair by the recent successful revolution headed by Gen. Manuel Bonilla, is now in Salvador and is supposed to be interested in the plot. The arrests were made by orders of Provisional President Bertrand.

The letters mentioned that munitions of war were hidden near Pimienta, and that the first move against the administration was to be started at the election next October of General Bonilla, he unopposed candidate for the presidency. Gen. Lee Christmas is in Tegucigalpa working to make his little army the best drilled and equipped in Central America.

FORGOTTEN DYNAMITE KILLS.

Charge Abandoned 20 Years Ago Fatal to Two in Mine.

Newburyport, Mass., Aug. 28.—A stick of dynamite left in the old Chipman silver mine in Newbury, 15 or 20 years ago exploded today, instantly killing two workmen, George Hartshorn and Daniel Stamus, both of Boston, and seriously injuring two others, when one of the workmen struck the dynamite with his pick.

Work was resumed at the mine recently after operations had been suspended a number of years.

SANITARY SUNDAY WAS GENERALLY OBSERVED YESTERDAY

Number of Addresses Made on Matters Pertaining to Public Health—Pastors Preached Helpful Sermons on Duty of Preserving Health.

Yesterday was Sanitary Sunday in Guilford County and in practically all the churches services in the interest of the health of the people were held. In a number of addresses on matters pertaining to public health and sanitation were made by physicians and prominent laymen.

The object of having a Sanitary Sunday, at which health matters are discussed, is to arouse the interest of the people of the county and thus cause them to take more interest in the series of lectures being given throughout the county by Health Superintendent G. Floyd Ross. The addresses yesterday on the subject was only a preliminary move to deeper and more thorough lectures to be given during the fall and early winter months.

Dr. Ross when seen this morning stated that he was greatly encouraged over the attendance and interest shown yesterday in churches all over the county, and especially in the country churches. At each place where speakers were sent out from Greensboro and High Point reports made to him showed that there was every evidence that seed had been sown in good ground and with the follow-up lectures will yield an abundant harvest by making health conditions better throughout the entire county.

Prof. T. R. Foust spoke at Midway Presbyterian, Dr. W. P. Beall and S. Clay Williams at Buffalo, Dr. J. T. J. Battle at High Point, Dr. Norman at Holt's Chapel, R. A. Merritt and C. C. McLean at Forest Avenue Baptist. Several laymen and physicians visited churches in the proximity of High Point while in the other churches in the county the pastors preached sermons pertaining to public health, all showing the necessity for the people to preserve their health if they would be of greatest service, not only in their everyday business life but in their services to their church.

BLAME FOR SCHOOL SHORTAGE

Swathmore Auditors' Report Holds Others Responsible With Kelle.

Media, Pa., Aug. 28.—St. George Bond, O. C. Mann and S. S. Snyder, auditors of Swathmore borough, in their report of the finances of Swathmore school district for the year ending June 30, 1911, declare that Joseph E. Haines, president, and Mrs. Helen D. Garwood, former secretary of the School Board, should be deemed co-responsible with Otto P. Kelle, former treasurer, for $1720 of a shortage of $4033.63 in the funds.

Kelle is under bail for trial at Media for alleged embezzlement of $5,000 belonging to the school district, it being alleged that he misappropriated that amount when he was treasurer of the board. The prosecutor in that case is Joseph E. Haines, president of the board. Efforts have been made to settle the case.

PARDON ASKED FOR MECKLENBURG NEGROES.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—Governor Kitchen is being urged to grant pardons for Will Boyd and Charlie Houston, of Mecklenburg county, serving four year sentences for the killing of Erskine Kirkpatrick at a fish fry in Province township a year ago. Both negroes were of good reputation before the killing and there is doubt as to which did the killing and as to whether the killing was justifiable. Many citizens including jurors, solicitor and judge, are asking for the pardon, the papers in which have just been presented to the governor by J. A. MacRae and F. Marion Redd, of the Charlotte bar.

WIFE WOULDN'T COOK AT MIDNIGHT; KILLED BY HUSBAND.

Alexandria, La., Aug. 28.—Because she would not get out of bed and prepare his supper Mrs. Mary Boatwright, aged 22, was shot and killed about midnight Saturday night by her husband, C. W. Boatwright.

At the inquest Boatwright said he prepared to retire and took the pistol from beneath a pillow, snapping it at his wife, but not knowing it was loaded.

Only one team in each league can win the pennant. That is reasonably true of all the contests of life. A few win, while the majority lose.

The United States Agricultural Department needs a new system, but Demonstrator Wilson is not the man to introduce it.

Charlotte may sympathize with Greensboro if the water shortage develops into a famine here, but Charlotte has not a sufficient water supply yet to be able to make this city a loan.

The Beattie case has the Camorra trial beaten on position in the newspapers. Doubtless it is because it is nearer home, and then there is a woman in the case.

The United States government has recognized President LaRoche as the chief executive of Haiti. Next week or next month Uncle Sam will have to be introduced to another President of Haiti.

Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile, the three large cities of Alabama, have returned to the open saloon as a settlement of the liquor question. This action will settle the question only temporarily, only until the prohibitionists have the opportunity to bring on other fights. The question of the sale of liquor will never be settled in any community until it is settled right. Therefore, it has not been permanently settled in the three largest cities of Alabama. There is a large criminal element in each of the Alabama cities and, unfortunately, there is a division among law abiding citizens in regard to the liquor question. These law abiding citizens who think the solution of the liquor problem lies in having saloons, combined with the tough and criminal population of the three cities to temporarily enthrone the liquor traffic in territory from which it had been driven.

Now they are charging that Admiral Togo's illness while he was in this country was caused by Boston beans. This is a doubtful story. Beans are as digestible as rice and they are as fit food for a warrior as the stuff on which South Carolinians manage to subsist.

There are indications that the water shortage here may be relieved. A few more rains such as have fallen during the last few days will materially increase the supply. However in order that the volume of water in the streams may be permanently increased it will be necessary to have enough rainfall to thoroughly soak the earth.

The Greenville Piedmont hopes that Winston will win the pennant if it is calculated to take place in any particular. It may not prove any real help to Winston but it will relieve the pent up feelings of several thousand citizens, most of whom would probably have nervous prostration if the pennant were captured by Greensboro.

"The people do rule," says the Philadelphia North American. This would be fine if true, but we greatly fear that the North American has been misinformed. "Big business," otherwise designated as trusts and monopolies, still rules this country and we have a number of years ahead of such rule. Even if the Democratic party is given full control of the government next year, several years of hard fighting and legislating will be required to finish the trusts. They will die hard and die struggling. The people do not rule this country at present. They have the power to rule and they may conclude to exercise it later.

Farmers Trying to Protect Themselves From the Tobacco Trust.

One of the most important meetings this summer in North Carolina was the session of the Virginia and Carolina Tobacco Growers, held at Greensboro last week. It was attended by distinguished leaders of the farmers not only from North Carolina, but from Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia. After much discussion it was decided by these tobacco growers, who have been robbed systematically about every year, except two or three since the tobacco trust was organized, that they must do something to protect themselves from a continuation of the policy of paying a decent price one year and inducing them to grow tobacco and then paying them starvation prices for the succeeding years. The tobacco farmers of Kentucky, tired of working for nothing and seeing the American Tobacco Company get all the profits from the business, some years ago decided to pool their tobacco and they had a long and stormy war with the tobacco trust. Last year they received twice as much for their tobacco as the North Carolina and Virginia farmers received, though the bright tobacco of these two States is intrinsically more valuable. The farmers of these two States have decided to pool their tobacco and store it in warehouses until the price is 15 cents a pound can be obtained. A special to the News and Observer yesterday from Greensboro gave the facts about the meeting of the North Carolina and Virginia tobacco farmers, as follows:

"It was learned that it is the plan of the delegates, representing over 50 per cent of the tobacco growers of the two States to put the crop through priories and store in warehouses until the price of 15 cents per pound was obtained. Members of the Union are confident they can win against the American Tobacco Company for a price allowing them reasonable profit.

"It is figured that the American Tobacco Company, instead of having sufficient supply for three years without using the 1911 crop, has only enough to last until the crop is marketable." There was never any talk of "pooling tobacco" or any trouble between the tobacco farmers and the tobacco manufacturers as long as there was competition. In the old days, the farmers received high prices for their tobacco when there was a strong demand for it, and were satisfied to have their tobacco bought under the world-wide policy of supply and demand, but since the tobacco trust has got control of all the markets and fixes the price at its own sweet will, the farmers have been promised year after year by politicians who wanted office that if given office they would compel the trust to stop their robbery, but the farmers have not received any protection and the trusts have gone on robbing them systematically without let or hindrance. Almost in despair of getting help through the law, which alone can bring a permanent and full relief to them, the farmers are now trying to do something for themselves, and the Virginia and North Carolina farmers think that in the pooling arrangement they can do as well as their neighbor farmers in Kentucky did and bring the trust for one time to its knees.

Let us hope that they will succeed in compelling the trust to pay a fair price this year for the tobacco. It is well known that the tobacco crop is very short, and if the law of supply and demand had not been throttled by the tobacco trust, the tobacco farmers this year would be receiving fine prices for their tobacco. Everybody except the trust and its defenders and apologists, will wish that the farmers will have great luck. But this movement does not release the public officials from their obligation to make it impossible for these outlaws of commerce to compel the farmers to go to this costly and troublesome expedient to secure justice. The tobacco farmers have a right to demand that the profits of their labor shall not be taken from them and the right to demand justice. The public man who does most to end the domination by the trusts and to destroy monopoly, is the public man who deserves most, not only from the tobacco farmers, but from all others who believe in a fair field and no favors.—Raleigh News and Observer.

HOG STEALING CASE AT FAYETTEVILLE

Special to Telegram.

Fayetteville, Aug. 28.—A case very much out of the ordinary was tried in Magistrate C. P. Overby's court Saturday afternoon. Sylvester Holland, of Flea Hill township, and his brother, Archie Holland, of Sampson county, were arraigned on the charge of stealing hogs. Sylvester Holland was, up to the time of his arrest, an officer of the law, being engaged in guarding hog stealers and other offenders at work on the county roads.

More than a week ago, Whitney McNeill, a negro living in Cedar Creek township near where the convict force was at work, put five nice, half-grown hogs in an old field to run before penning for fattening. The hogs failed to "come up" the first, second and for several nights, until Whitney thought there was something wrong. Accordingly, he started for town to inquire if any hogs had been sold to the butchers. On the road he fell in with some friends, to whom he mentioned the loss of his pigs, whereupon one of the party told him that a man had a few days before gone towards Fayetteville hauling in a wagon a box containing five hogs tallying with the ones he described. The person sent McNeill on to another party who could give the road taken by the man with the hogs. The second person gave an unfrequented road, and McNeill finally traced the route to Holt-Morgan village.

Walking through the village, he saw one of his hogs in a pen, and, upon asking the lady where she got it, was told that she bought it from Joe Brown, a merchant across the street. Mr. Brown, upon being interrogated, said that he bought the hogs and four others, which had been likewise sold in the village, from Holland. McNeill identified his five pigs, got claim and delivery papers from Magistrate Overby and recovered them.

Sylvester Holland and his brother, Archie, who was implicated, were arrested and given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Overby Saturday afternoon, who put them under bonds for appearance at superior court, failing to give which they were taken to jail.

MECKLENBERG COTTON CROP 10,000 BALES SHORT OF NORMAL

Special to Telegram.

Charlotte, Aug. 28.—Perhaps the most versatile and learned of local cotton men has been over the county within the past few days and brings back the estimate that the cotton crop will be short at least 10,000 bales, which is an alarming curtailment. Figuring on a basis of the price of last year's crop at $70 a bale, this means a decrease in the revenue to the farmers this fall of $700,000 in this one crop alone.

Not only has the drought had the effect of working such destruction with cotton, but corn is equally cut off and farmers are figuring on about a 70 per cent crop. Only in the event that a rain of sufficient quantity to give a thorough seasoning falls soon will the corn reach even this proportion of a crop.

The situation in the county generally has been fearful all season with almost no alternative periods of prospect. Since early spring the drought has been prolonged from the planting of the crops through the entire season of cultivation and the occasional showers, while perhaps helpful in the long run, seemed to have had the immediate effect of stunning the young plants.

The early opening of the crop which is noted in all portions of the county signifies an exceedingly small crop. The caliber of the staple now being offered of the new crop is short and cannot command the price usually paid for the first offerings on the wharf. This is the result of dry weather that has warped the bolls and prevented full maturity.

The corn fields in most sections of the county are yellow and burned up. The ears are small and in many instances the stalks are half grown and have only half ears on them. There is no basis for supposing that the general average of the county will run much over 50 per cent although in favored spots the farmers figure that they will reap a 75 per cent crop.

CAR HE RAN FOR KILLED HIM.

Hurrying Man Trips and Falls Under Wheels, Which Sever His Head.
Scranton, Pa., Aug. 28.—While running for a car at Petersburg this morning, David Ruth was decapitated under the wheels of the car he sought to catch. Ruth was on his way to work and was endeavoring to catch a Laurel line car, which had just started, and intended to swing himself aboard before it gained headway. When close to the tracks he tripped and plunged headlong under the forward trucks of the car, his head being cut off.

WORK OF EXTRA SESSION DOES NOT APPEAR LARGE

Glance at Results Shows, However, That Important Measures Were Enacted and the Field Cleared for Further Work at Regular Session.

Special to Telegram.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.)
Washington, Aug. 28.—Now that the extra session of Congress has adjourned it doesn't seem that the sum total of its actual work represents a great deal. The fact is, though, there was lots of work done which does not appear on paper. But four big measures were passed and became law in nearly nine months of work. They were:

An act to provide statehood for the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico.
An act for reciprocity, between the United States and Canada.

An act compelling all campaign contributions to be made public.
An act reappointing the membership of Congress under the 1910 census.

Of course there were other measures that passed muster, and were enacted, but for the most part they were private bills, and had nothing to do with general interests. Some forty or fifty bills of this class were enacted into law.

More important, perhaps, than any of the measures which actually got through were the measures which passed, but which ran up against a Presidential veto. These bills related in each instance to the tariff reform program.

Three of them were given death by President Taft. He had warned Congress in various speeches and otherwise not to attempt tariff revision at the extra session. He had said that he proposed to wait until the Tariff Board made its report before he approved of such measures. In spite of this advice, Congress passed three tariff measures and sent them to the White House. They were:

An act lowering the tariff on wool and wool products.

An act lowering the tariff on cotton and cotton goods.

An act lowering the duties on farm implements and other articles used by farmers.

These three measures involved from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 annual revenues. The Democrats declared that the former figure was the extent in the cut of income, while the Republicans urged that the latter figure was nearer it. All these bills were designed for the primary purpose of providing political material to use next year, and to that extent they were successful. They did provide the material. The President vetoed them, and thereby placed himself in the position of an obstructionist. He had declared again and again that he was for lower tariff duties, especially on wool. And instead of permitting a lowering of these duties, he stood in the way of it.

Therefore, the extra session was all that the Democratic tariff reformers could hope for. If the President had signed the bills, they would have been compelled to share the glory of giving the people relief with him. Now that he has disapproved them, they will not be able to afford the relief, but they will be able to tell the country that no hope of it exists as long as there is a Republican President.

There was much business during the extra session that can not be measured by additions to the statute books. Many legislative ideas were put forward that did not receive support, and did not expect it at this time. They were simply advanced for the purpose of feeling the country out, and will come up at the regular session in December for actual legislation.

One of these projects was the proposed plan for providing the country with an interstate trade commission to supervise trade relations as the interstate commerce commission controls the operation of railroads. This was advocated in a general way by a number of members of both houses, but no real action was taken looking to the inauguration of the movement.

The necessity for more complete control over interstate commerce has arisen out of the fact that the Supreme Court has applied the "rule of reason" to the proposition to dissolve the trusts. Many statesmen take the position that the trusts can not be curbed until their dissolution is absolute and complete.

Others argue that the economic structure of the country erected out of prevailing conditions in business prevent a dissolution of the trusts. They forbid the competition which they claim is no longer the life of trade, but which is the death of trade.

These statesmen contend that not until there is a trade commission which will supervise prices, will the government ever have its hand on the business of the country or ever be able to protect the people from oppression while at the same time protecting trade from destruction.

One disappointment of the administration in the extra session was the failure of the two arbitration treaties. They were the result of prolonged and patient negotiation on the part of the President and Secretary Knox. They were the most important steps ever taken for world peace, and the administration could see no reason why they should be held up or amended in any form by the Senate.

The Senate took the view, however, that, while world peace was a desirable thing, it should not be purchased at the price of the Senate's constitutional functions. They argued in committee and out of it that the treaties took away from the Senate the authority to pass upon all justifiable disputes. The administration would not yield on the points, and the Senate would not compromise. As a result, the treaties are still pending.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it for forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for laryngitis, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet preparation. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists, 50c. In stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

BIG BILL FOR NEW LOCKS.

Loss of Master Key to House Building Costs Government $1,500.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The grand master key of the House office building, which was lost some time ago, has not been found, and Superintendent Woolley has ordered 528 new locks to take the place of those that the lost key fits. This will cost the government between $1,400 and $1,500.

The old locks are not safe with a grand master key at large. One with the key that disappeared so mysteriously, could enter the rooms of the Representatives and take books, papers and other valuables.

Submarines to Have Month's Torpedo Target Practice.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

The seventh, eighth and ninth torpedo divisions of the Atlantic torpedo fleet are to have a month of target practice off the New England coast. The destroyers will fire torpedoes running at full speed at 3,000 yards range. Commander Edward W. Eberle, U. S. N., commander of the Atlantic torpedo fleet, will watch the practice from his flagship, Dixie. The destroyers will use Narragansett bay as their base, expecting to complete the practice the middle of September, then sailing for Chesapeake bay for gun target practice. The submarines have plenty of work ahead to keep the officers and crews busy until the middle of October, when they sail for Norfolk to remain for winter maneuvers.

CUMBERLAND COURT CONVENES; HEAVIEST DOCKET IN YEARS

Special to Telegram.

Fayetteville, Aug. 28.—Cumberland superior court, for the trial of criminal cases only, convened today. Judge Harry W. Whedbee, Third District, is upon the bench, with Solicitor N. A. Sinclair prosecuting attorney.

The docket is one of the heaviest known here for a long time. There are 145 cases, with a few more yet to come in. Of these two are homicide cases—

Adam Smith, negro, for the killing of Jim Townsend, negro, last week, and the continued case of Steve Thagard, white, for the killing of Cashwell, white, at Cotton, about a year ago. Thagard had an accomplice, one Shambly, who fled the country at the time of the killing and has not been apprehended.

The "white slave" case of Lonnie Long and his wife, which was sent up from the mayor's court some months since and created quite a sensation at the time, comes up at this term.

There are a great number of blind tiger, larceny, carrying concealed weapons, and other petty cases.

Tuft of Periwak Feathers.

On the apex of the crown worn by the prince of Wales on special occasions is a curious feather, or rather tuft of feathers, the top of which is adorned with a gold thread. The value of this feather is estimated at $50,000, and it has the distinction of being the only one of its kind in human possession. Twenty years passed after the first hunter sent out to procure the feather before it was attained, and during that period more than a dozen hunters had lost their lives in the quest.

The costly tuft of periwak feathers and the extraordinary danger incurred in procuring it was due to the fact that the periwak, for some unknown reason, is to be found only in dense jungles in which tigers make their lair.

The Universal Pet.

Everybody must have a pet. If you haven't a baby, you must at least own a dog. If it isn't a dog, it may be a cat or a kitten. In other lands it may be a monkey. I have even known of those who have alligators as pets—little ones, of course. Perhaps this explains why, on a single Sunday, 40,000 men, women and children, principally children, will flock into the Zoological garden at Bronx park in the northern part of New York city. This may explain, too, why, in a single calendar year, nearly one million and a half visitors at the park take time—and do it with pleasure—to visit what is known as the finest zoological exhibit as well as the largest in the world.—Harriet Quimby, in Leslie's.

From the Greek.

Greeks call a city "polis." The fundamental, or root, of the word was "pol." The Aryan stock, from which Greek and Latin descended, had a way of emphasizing an idea by reduplication; that is, by repeating the root syllable. So probably after the separation of the Greek from his Asiatic birthplace, the old parent stock reduplicated "pol" and made "polpol" of it, by which was meant one inhabitant of the city. That reduplicated word appears in Latin as "populus," meaning now all the citizens of a "polis." The Latin went out from the Aryan hive long after the Greeks. They carried "populus" with them, but left "polis" behind. The English descendant of the Aryan stock says "people" now instead of "populus," but almost keeps the original in "population." He keeps "polis" also, in the word "politics," which is easily seen by its etymology to be "the science of being a citizen."

COTTON CROP FAIR.

Commercial-Appel Reports Indicate Assurance of Good Crop and Possibility of Great One.
Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 28.—The Commercial-Appel weekly cotton review says:

The decline in the condition of the cotton plant which set in several weeks ago has been checked in the two Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama, or had ceased altogether by reason of more favorable weather, rain having fallen in the Carolinas and dry weather supervened in the two latter states. Cotton is early in the Atlantic States and without more rain will now open rapidly.

A fair crop is assured and a large one seems a possibility despite the deterioration that has been suffered.

In Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas and Louisiana excessive rainfall continued during the week and some of the reports take a very gloomy view of the outlook. The chief damage has resulted from shedding of young forms by reason of the rank growing of the stalk and from boll weevil in the southern part of this valley territory. It is evident, however, that bright weather would vastly reduce present estimates of damage.

In Oklahoma and Texas a period of extreme heat accompanied by a burning sun and hot winds caused a quick setback to cotton, which had but lately taken on fresh growth from rain. The plant was being forced to an early maturity; but rains toward the close of the week put an end to the condition and hold out a promise of better returns next week. As most correspondents state, there is yet time to derive benefit from the rains.

Cotton is moving very freely to market where any picking is being done.

The Useful Killdeer.

The killdeer, if it is eaten at all in this part of the country, cannot stand in high favor. There is no talk of killdeer hunting. They are not to be perceived in the string of birds the successful hunter likes to display. But there are pathetic evidence to be noted on the beaches that those "sportsmen" who shoot at anything living find in the killdeer a target to their liking.

In a bulletin just put out by the agriculture department it appears that this beautiful, if somewhat unmusical bird, renders very efficient service to mankind. It preys upon mosquito larvae. The diving beetle, a great enemy to the fish hatcheries and destructive to fish food, is a thorn in the side of the killdeer. He is an industrious hunter of the crayfish which are a nuisance where marshland is dyked. He follows the plow of the farmer and picks up grubs, cut worms, leaf beetles and other pests of agriculture. He eats little or no vegetable food, and probably then, as in the case of the quail, only if he can find no insects.—Toledo Blade.

Chinese Traits.

The Chinese are orderly, law-abiding and well-behaved; they have a strong sense of right and justice—are fair minded; they are reliable in commercial dealings—pay their debts and keep their agreements, whether verbal or written; they are dutiful to parents, fond of children and mindful of etiquette and punctilious about returning courtesies or favors; they are respectful to elders and superiors; they honor and respect character and intellectual ability, and do not recognize an aristocracy of wealth. This list might be largely extended, but it is enough to show what I have undertaken to show—that China has not by any means to seek abroad all the requisites for national greatness and popular welfare; some of the most important are here already.—Address to students of St. John's college, Shanghai.

Not a Society Item.

Husband (reading the paper)—"I see that Prince Harold is dead." Wife (an Anglomaniac, inexpressibly shocked)—"Is it possible? It seems too sad for anything. What was the cause of his death?" Husband—"He trotted a mile in 2:25½, and then died of blind staggers."

Visiting Cards for Dogs.

A novelty in Paris is the lapdog visiting cards. "Poms" and pugs which go visiting with their mistresses in fashionable circles in Paris are to have their own tiny pasteboards tucked away in little pockets of their outdoor coats. Such dogs have two sets of cards, which are left on their dogs at the houses where they are calling with their mistresses. One card gives the dog's real name and its race, while the other records its pet name joined to the family name of its owner. Cards are left according to the pedigree of the dog visited.

Were Not on His List.

The late Rev. Horatio Stebbins of San Francisco was a man of large mind and noble powers, but more familiar with the world of intellectual and scholastic interests than with trivial and timely things.

His household was blessed with a charming daughter, who grew up tall and beautiful, commanding the admiration of all who saw her. One day a visitor said to the good doctor: "Doctor, your daughter grows more charming by day. Why, she's a regular Gibson girl."

"Ah, thank you, thank you," replied the doctor in his best manner. When the visitor had gone, turning to his wife the doctor asked: "My dear, who are the Gibsons?"—Cleveland Leader.

Wherefore "Terse."

"Terse" is a word that has an understood meaning nowadays. Shadwell in the fourth act of "The Humors" (1671) put this question into the mouth of one of his characters: "Must I stay by the strength of terse claret? you have wet yourself into courage!" It is probably an allusion to what is still sometimes called "Dutch courage"—bravery inspired by alcohol. Claret was in those times imported in "terces," and "terse" may be a condensed form of that word. Also "terse claret" may have been a drink that did its business without any circumlocution, like the terser of writer.

Aurora Borealis.

According to a theory recently enunciated, the aurora borealis is formed of cathode rays, emitted by the sun and deflected by the terrestrial magnetic field in the upper strata of the atmosphere. The velocity of these cathode rays must be nearly equal to that of light, and very much greater than the velocity of cathode rays produced in the laboratory. Leonard concludes that these extremely "hard" cathode rays are emitted by unknown radio-active substances in the sun.

Modern Dancing.

No one goes of course waiters. The old trolis temps is as dead as death. A strange shuffle in which your shoulder shuffles too, you cling sardine fashion to your partner, who pushes you along like a perambulator; and never lift your feet off the ground with a sort of apache cum coxer cum half seas over action, is the "dance," if you please, of the moment.—The Tatler.

Keep Clean.

Keep your house and your belongings clean. Let the blessed sun, the greatest physician in the world, get all through you and all about you. Get your full share of the free air of heaven. "Eat to live and not live to eat," as a sage philosopher of the long ago tells us. Keep your house clean in which you live and keep the "house" in which your life lives clean, and all will be well.

Checking Motion of Ship.

In actual practice the rolling of ships in the sea has been reduced from 11 per cent. to 2 per cent. by the invention of Herr Frahm of Hamburg. His system makes use of water tanks extending through the hold transversely from one side of the boat to the other and the passage of the water from one side of the boat to the other effectually checks the motion of the boat.

Frightened to Death.

A man died at Hanley, England, under curious circumstances lately. While a boiler was being stocked at the Deep Pit, two loud explosions took place. They were caused by the automatic opening of a valve, but Samuel Raybould, one of the stokers, exclaimed: "That's frightened me to death," and, falling, he instantly expired.

Bound to Be Discovered.

If a man is really reliable he doesn't have to devote much of his time to expiating that virtue; you are watched pretty closely, whether you know it or not.—Atchison Globe.

Use for Street Rubbish.

City authorities of Amsterdam are now considering the conversion of the street rubbish as a mass into combustible briquets for heating boilers.

For the Hostess

A Novel Book Party.

I wonder if you would not enjoy "book charades"? They do not need rehearsing and are loads of fun. Just prepare cards with the numbers from 1 to 30, or the number of charades you are to have, and let them write down the ones they guess. I append a few suggestions which you can add to. For a prize give a book candy box filled with bonbons or salted nuts.

"Looking Backward"—A girl walks across the stage with her head turned over her shoulder.

"The First Violin"—Someone holds up a violin on which the No. 1, cut from white paper, has been pasted.

"We Two"—A man and a girl walk across the stage arm in arm.

"The Brass Bowl"—A girl walks forward, carrying a brass bowl.

"Lavender and Old Lace"—A girl is represented by a girl dressed in lavender gowns trimmed with old lace.

"Madame Chrysanthemum"—A girl in a Japanese kimono, holding chrysanthemums.

"Who na Man Marries"—A man and a girl walk across the stage, while someone plays the wedding march.

"The Light That Failed"—One girl carries a lighted candle which another girl blows out.

"The Gentleman From Indiana"—A man carrying a suit case which is conspicuously labeled "John Jones, Indiana."

"Vanity Fair"—A girl gazing into a looking-glass.

"A Study in Scarlet"—A girl seated in a chair, wearing a scarlet dress.

"The Bow of Orange Ribbons"—A girl or a man wearing a huge bow of orange ribbon.

"The Woman in the White Veil"—A girl wearing a big white automobile veil.

"Old Gentleman in the Black Stock"—A man with powdered hair and cane, with a big old-fashioned black stock.

"Old Rose and Silver"—A girl dressed in old rose trimmed with silver.

"The Lady With the Red Fan"—A girl with a big red fan, with which she languidly fans herself.

"A Certain Rich Man"—A man wearing a tag which says in big letters "John D."

"From Sea to Sea"—Two huge letter C's are cut from white paper and pinned to the curtain on each side of the stage and the players walk from one to the other.

"The Ascent of Man"—A man climbs gravely to the top of a step ladder and remains seated there.

Pope's "Essay on Man." "The Under Side of Things," by Lillian Bell; "Innocents Abroad," "Black Rock," by Connor; "Under Two Flags," "Middemarch," "Wandering Jew," "Man of the Hour" and "The Virginian."

Two Party Schemes.

The hostess called this successful affair a "pie" party:

When all had arrived the men were auctioned off by the host, who was gifted with a ready flow of language, and he had a keen sense of humor. The "medicine" man was introduced on the block in this manner: "A man who was often sought, although he was known to be addicted to 'ill' company." The bidding was fast and furious and it took all the ready money of the purchaser to get him. The coal dealer was described as "The man we think of when the snow flies." When all the ladies had secured their partners they were given pieces of pie made from paper pie plates such as bakers use, the edges fastened together with red baby ribbon. On being opened there were slices of paper with the words "mince," "cherry," or "apple." Whatever recipe was called for the man was to give it, while the "girl" made the pie in pantomime. This called forth merry peals of laughter. The refreshments consisted of individual pies, coffee and sandwiches. The man who gave the best recipe was the recipient of a pie-shaped box of sweetmeats.

This "portrait" party scheme is good: Get common wrapping paper, a light brown or white, and cut into squares a foot and a half each way. Put up a sheet across the door and have the light from a lamp arranged so that the shadow of a person's head will be reflected on the square of paper. A guest is to be placed sideways so that the outline of the face will show on the paper. With a heavy pencil or a crayon draw the outline or profile. One guest at a time is brought into the gallery; the name is put on the back of the portrait. When all have been taken, an assistant helps cut out the silhouettes, which are pasted on black paper and pinned up like a portrait exhibition. The guests are provided with pencils and papers and write down who they think is who. A prize is provided for the one who guesses the most correctly, and, if the hostess wishes, a consolation prize may be awarded.

A "Bacon Bat."

A young college friend informed me that the very latest thing in outdoor affairs was "A Bacon Bat." When explained I concluded that it must be loads of fun. Of course, as with all such parties, all depends upon the guests and their love of outdoor functions. We all feel the "call of the wild" these glorious days and I am sure many of our readers will want to have a "Bacon Bat" just as soon as they read this. Six couples are enough, provide plenty of delicious bacon sliced very thin, sweet potatoes and several dozen finger rolls; these are the absolute requirements, other things may be added at the pleasure of the hostess. Build a fire, roast the sweet potatoes (or take a frying pan, have the potatoes boiled at home and fry them over the coals). Grill the bacon on the ends of long sticks, insert the finger rolls and you have a meal fit for a king. Coffee may be made and I assure you the only danger is in not having enough of everything. Nature study classes are in favor all over the country, and after a tramp what could be more appetizing than the repeat I have just described? I would suggest roasting Irish potatoes and taking a jar of butter with plenty of tissue paper napkins; hard boiled eggs are a welcome addition with a jar of tiny cucumber pickles and olives both ripe and green.

MADAME MERRI.

For the Blouse.

For dainty silk dress or chiffon waists use instead of ordinary buttons brass rings of the proper size, buttonholed over in silk of a color to match the fabric or the trimmings. In white thread this is very nice for a lingerie blouse also and easier to make than crocheted buttons. If you wish you may darn across the rings, or cross threads and buttonholes over them; but really the plain buttonholed rings are just as pretty. Where you have crocheted loops instead of buttonholes the soft battenberg rings will do as well, and can be bought ready made at any embroidery supply or notion store.

Shirt Waists.
Waists of challis, foulard, pique or messaline matching the suit in color are very good looking, and are more practical in many ways than washing shirt waists and in the end hardly more expensive. They can be made very simply and worn with lingerie collar and cuff sets.

FANCIES OF FASHION.

Everywhere is seen a bit of black satin.

Natural feather quills are seen in plaid and sash.

The newest sailor collars are deep in the back and hardly existing in front.

The red, white and blue of the revolution will be worn singly and in combination.

Pringles are seen on many of the new lingerie gowns as girldie and tunic trimmings.

A good deal of heavy embroidery and Irish crochet lace appear on the new waists.

One of the newest sleeves is about three-quarter length and is as wide at the bottom as at the plain top.

In Paris waistcoats with huge revers to turn back over the outside coat are in vogue and have plain short backs of lining material, so that the waistcoat may be worn with several coats if desired.

The note of red, cerise, French blue or emerald green is very often introduced into the black and white frock and bits of Persian or Russian figured silk or embroidery are also used as trimmings; but some of the best looking trotting frocks in the black and white are entirely without color relief, the color note being left to the hat, parasol, etc., used with the frock.

Summer Bags

THE bags shown are made of linen or pique buttoned down with pearl buttons and braided or embroidered. They have convenient pockets inside and long cotton cords suspend them on the arm. For the summer dress they are quite the ideal article. No smudges from the leather of one's handbag and the lightness of them counts, too.

The belt is stitched linen with pearl button effect. These are really simple which keep the belt fastened neatly and simply.

The Good Tailor Earns His Money!

For every dollar "more" that you pay a good Tailor you get double value in Clothes. You get it in the Cloth—in the Workmanship

YOU get this double-value in the way of distinctive clothes—CLOTHES MADE FOR THE ONLY MAN IN THE WORLD THEY WOULD FIT AND SUIT. That's one important reason for tailors—you are the only man of the human race of your exact personality. You have no real doubles or duplicates. Therefore, you ought to wear clothes that were made for YOU. OUGHTN'T YOU?

SEWER CONNECTIONS MUST BE MADE SAYS MR. BROWN

Thirty-Five Property Owners in First Ward will be Required to do Work at Once—Work Being Done in Systematic Way.

Commissioner Brown is now engaged in the task of getting people in the first ward who live on streets on which there are sewer lines to connect with the sewer, if they have not already done so, and to do away with all surface closets on such streets. Every person owning property on a street on which there are water and sewer lines have been given due notice to connect with the sewer within a month and discontinue all surface closets. Commissioner Brown states that unless this work is done within the time specified warrants will be served.

The streets in the first ward on which there are water and sewer lines are North Elm, Greene, Wainman, Edgeworth from Market to Schenck, Spring from Market to Bellemead, Cedar from Market to near Schenck, Mendenhall from Guilford avenue 300 feet south, Market Elm to McIver, Gaston Elm to Cedar, Bellemead Elm to Spring, Guilford avenue Mendenhall to Lucy and Cedar to railroad, Humphrey avenue, Price, Battle Ground avenue, Schenck from Elm to Edgeworth, Wharton Greene to top of hill, Keogh to near Florence, South Park Drive Wainman to G. A. Grimley's.

On the above streets there are only 35 pieces of property that have not yet connected with the sewer. However, on these streets there are in use 14 surface closets and orders have been given to nail up the rear and the seats of these surface closets so they cannot be used for privies. Commissioner Brown stated today that he was going about the work systematically and it would probably take him two years to cover the city, but when he got over it would be thoroughly covered. He says he will not serve notices to do work on a greater number during a month than the plumbers of the city can complete within the month allowed for the work. He states that as soon as the city is covered and all property on sewer lines is connected up attention will be directed to the effort to have sanitary surface closets until the city has extended the sewer lines. Mr. Brown said that he would appreciate the hearty co-operation of the citizens in this work, which he believes to be to the best interest of the citizens of the city. A model sanitary closet is now being constructed and will be placed on display at the city hall and the public is invited to inspect it and have similar closets made and install them at once instead of waiting until they are notified to do so. Mr. Brown states that in view of the fact that every person is being treated just alike and no favors are allowed he is not meeting with as much opposition as he expected. Heretofore when an attempt was made to require owners to connect with the sewer the first fellow who put up any opposition against the effort was victorious and the matter dropped. With the present systematic effort no one is being overlooked and it is first come on the list, first served. As soon as the first ward is completed attention will be turned to the second ward and then the third, fourth, fifth and sixth. By this time it is hoped the city will have extended materially its sewer lines and the city will be gone over again.

MOTHER OF LOUISE OWEN BEATTIE IS CALLED TO STAND

Gives Damaging Testimony Against Defendant—Beattie's Chance Grows Less.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Aug. 28.—The prosecution sprung a surprise this afternoon when it called to the witness stand Mrs. R. V. Owen, mother of Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie, who was supposed to have been out of the jurisdiction of the court. The witness was dressed in deep mourning and there was intense silence throughout the courtroom while she was on the stand. She testified to the fact that her daughter's married life was unhappy. She told of Beattie's visits to her home.

The testimony of Mrs. Owen caused Beattie and his counsel no little uneasiness.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Aug. 28.—In giving testimony today Detective Scherer said that he had talked about the Beattie case with Beulah Binford and Paul Beattie. He stated that Henry Beattie told him the reason he did not stop to see if his wife was dead after the shooting was because he knew that Dr. Mercer was at her uncle's house. Scherer was then excused by the prosecution and the cross-examination was begun.

On the cross-examination the defense made an effort to impress the jury with the fact that Scherer had worked up the case for the state and to show that Scherer's testimony was given with a view to making out his case. Mrs. Jesse Binford, the mother of Beulah Binford, will follow Scherer on the witness stand. Attorney Wendenburg announced that he would put Paul Beattie on the stand following the examination of Mrs. Binford. The purpose of the commonwealth is to establish a motive for the crime, through the evidence of the girl's mother, and to clinch the case with the evidence of Paul Beattie.

Driven to bay by the web of evidence so far woven around him Henry Clay Beattie and his counsel are preparing to make a desperate effort to break down the evidence of Detective Scherer, whose testimony directly charged the guilt of the defendant. The defense believes that this testimony can be broken down, but those who know Scherer claim that the detective built up his case on the facts and that the defense will be unable to weaken his testimony or to destroy his case.

SIXTY PERSONS ARE INJURED IN A RAILROAD WRECK

Middletown, Conn., Aug. 28.—Sixty persons were injured last night, eight of them seriously, when an express train on the Valley division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad was wrecked by spreading of the rails. The train runs Sundays to various resorts and returns at night. The train consisted of the engine, two baggage and eight passenger coaches. The engine was thrown on its side into a sand bank; the two baggage cars went down a 35-foot embankment and the first passenger coach ran into the tender of the engine and was badly splintered.

It was in this car that most of the injured were found. The engineer was caught in the cab of his engine and had to be chopped out but escaped with a dislocated hip and bruises.

A SHOOTING AT REVOLUTION ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

J. E. Grady Sends Bullet Into Side of Tom Amos' Head.

As a result of a disagreement over a wager regarding the reliability of their watches to keep the correct time Tom Amos and J. E. Grady got into a disagreement yesterday afternoon and as a result Amos was shot by Grady, the ball striking just in front of his ear and glancing alongside the head. The wound is not considered dangerous and Amos was reported as getting along nicely. The ball, however, cut off a portion of his ear and he will be marked for life. Grady is now in the county jail awaiting a hearing, to be held a few days until Amos is sufficiently recovered to appear and give his testimony.

The affair occurred at Revolution near McAdoo Heights about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. From the best accounts obtainable the two men got into a dispute regarding the correct time and wagered their watches, the one who had the correct time or the nearest correct was to be declared the winner. In the crowd gathered were Deputy Sheriffs Bolton Clark and John Hobbs. Amos won the wager and there was an intimation on the part of Grady that the proceedings were not fairly conducted. This caused Amos to drive at Grady with an uppercut that grounded his opponent. Grady then ran upon a nearby porch and was being followed by Amos to make his victory more pronounced when Grady drew from some where about his person a formidable looking 38 Iver-Johnson and let drive point blank at Amos' face. The ball struck Amos just in front of the ear. It glanced and carried off a portion of the ear. Had Grady's aim been steady the shot would have no doubt been fatal.

At the sight of the revolver the officers made a dash for Grady but were too late to prevent the shot. Grady was at once placed under arrest and brought to jail, while Amos' wound was dressed by a physician.

It is understood that Grady will plead self-defense when brought to trial as Amos was said to be advancing upon him when he fired. It is more than probable that the two will be charged with an affray. Both men are well known at Revolution.

The reason a girl doesn't really mind being kissed is she says she hates it.

Coating of Vaporization. Electroplating calls for a cell, a current and a conducting surface. A new process invented by a Zurich engineer gives coatings not only upon metal surfaces, but upon plaster, glass, celluloid, wood or paper. It is adapted for producing a veneer of tin, lead, copper, aluminum, or even gold or silver. The metal or its solution is vaporized under a pressure of 40 to 60 pounds per square inch, and the vapor is allowed to escape from a small orifice, when it cools instantly, projecting solid particles of the metal against any surface with such force that a homogeneous solid coating is formed at once and may be made a quarter of an inch thick in a few seconds. This coating may be made adherent, for decoration or protection, or detachable, for reproductions, etc. Coated objects of metal, wood and paper have been shown in Zurich, and the process promises to become important.

HE'S A COMPETENT ADVISER

Farmer's Son Ran Away to the City and Now Edits an Agricultural Paper.

"It is greatly to be regretted," was remarked in the hearing of a farmer, "that farmers' boys do not stick to the farm. It seems as if scarcely any of them do."

"Oh, I dunno," said the farmer. "I've raised eight boys and they're all farmers 'cept one."

"Is that so? Only one of them caught by the glitter of the city, eh?"

"Yes, that's all. Poor Rob would go, spite of all I could do—run away to the city when he was 12, and we ain't never seen him since, though it's been over 20 years. But I dunno but it's all right; he hadn't no likin' for farm work, nor wouldn't take no interest in it. He jes' naturally seemed to hate the farm, and didn't know enough about farm work to drive ducks to water."

"Yes, I think it was better that he should leave the farm, as he evidently had no taste for it. Is he in the mercantile business?"

"Oh, no, nothing of the kind," replied the farmer; "for the last ten years Bob has been editor of an agricultural paper. He writes the 'Hints to Farmers,' 'How to Do Farm Work,' 'Stick to the Farm, Boys,' and such things."

Derivation of Word "Caucus."

As to the origin of the word "caucus" there is much diversity of opinion. It has been traced to a North American Indian word, "kaw-kaw-kas," meaning to talk, giving advice or instigate, whence came "caucorouse," a chief. More often, however, it is explained, as English, a corporation of "calkers' meeting" and here again there is a variety of choice. One version tells of meetings of the Boston dockyard calkers to elect delegates to represent their grievances against the English soldiers. Another makes it a term of opprobrium, "calkers" standing for humble folk generally. A third explains that it was in a calkers' meeting place that the Boston politicians assembled.

Stenography 2,000 Years Ago.

It seems incredible, but it can be proved, already in the olden times there were stenographers who took down the speeches made in the Roman senate or in public. They were called notarii and we find a place in Suetonius where Augustus is angry because the stenographers reported the speech of Caesar for Mettullus in a very imperfect manner.

DEPARTMENT STORE GREENSBORO

75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, a morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advertising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because then there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO.—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We consider the evening paper the best advertising medium, as the average woman does not take time to read a paper until her work is done.—Ed Schuster & Co.

DETROIT, MICH.—We prefer the evening paper.—Partridge & Blackwell.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgin Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsing & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Calendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sally forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.

CONVENTION AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION IN BOSTON

Thirty-fourth Annual Session Opens Tomorrow—Lawyers of National and International Prominence in Attendance—Weighty Matters to be Discussed.

Special to Telegram.

Boston, Aug. 28.—Legal lights from every section of the country are gathered here to attend the thirty-fourth annual convention of the American Bar Association which opens at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology tomorrow.

Exceptional interest is attached to the reports of the standing committees.

The most interesting of these is the report of the special committee to suggest remedies and formulate proposed laws to prevent delay and unnecessary cost in litigation to be delivered Wednesday morning. This committee has embraced its activities under three heads, trial practice, practice in appeal and equity procedure.

At the last meeting of the American Bar Association this committee was directed to draw up a bill embracing the proposed judicial reforms. The bill was introduced in Congress where it was referred to the committee on judiciary. The discussion of the bill attracted widespread attention. It passed the House, but died in the Senate committee. It is to revise these measures so that they will present themselves to the conservative legislators in a stronger and more plausible light that this committee will again ask the consideration of the delegates.

The report of this committee is looked forward to with universal interest, for so favorable was the opinion expressed by the individual members of the United States Senate that it is believed that the bill would have passed had it been reported out of the Senate committee. By cheapening and expediting the process of the law these bills, if passed, will save litigants millions of dollars annually.

Scarcely of less importance to the millions who yearly have recourse to civil proceedings are the other committee reports scheduled to follow the opening address of President Edgar H. Farrar, tomorrow morning. These embody the reports of standing committees and discussion of reports of the committees on jurisprudence and law reform; judicial administration and remedial procedure; legal education and admission to the bar; commercial law; international law; grievances; obituaries; law reporting and digesting; patent; trade mark and copyright law; insurance law; uniform State law; taxation and comparative law bureau.

On Wednesday morning, following the Tuesday night reports on the above mentioned committees, a paper will be read by Justice Henry B. Brown of the United States Supreme Court, retired, on "The New Federal Judicial Code" (Act March 3, 1911). The presentation of this paper will be followed by the reports of special committees and discussion thereof on: The prevention of delay and unnecessary litigation; the presentation to Congress of bills relating to courts of admiralty and government liens on real estate.

The Wednesday session of the association will be concluded with an address by William B. Hornblower, New York, on "Anti-Trust Legislation and Litigation."

The Thursday session of the association will be given over to the discussion and further report of committees that have, because of the press of work, been unable to place their matter before the convention, and the reading of a paper by Robert S. Taylor, Fort Wayne, Ind., on "Equity Rules 33, 34, and 35."

Though the American Bar Association is the parent organization and though its deliberations will necessarily occupy the greater portion of public attention, because of their importance, there are several smaller organizations, affiliated with the American Bar Association but holding separate conventions and claiming the attention of certain members of the parent association, which will meet at about the same time.

Among these is the Section of Legal Education, a department whose membership embodies some of the most eminent professors of law in the United States, which meets on Wednesday, August 30, at 3 o'clock p. m., and Thursday, August 31st, at 2:30 p. m., to consider subjects pertaining to the teaching of law in the great universities and law schools throughout the United States. Many important changes in the curriculum of the law schools will be advocated by this body and portions will be put before the delegates advocating the promulgation and dissemination of the changes that receive the approbation of the delegates. Besides these meetings, those interested in the association and its affairs have been in active session for over a week, revising, reporting and shaping motions and committee reports to be submitted to the delegates when they formally convene tomorrow.

The meeting of the American Bar Association will be attended by lawyers of national and international prominence, among whom are: Edgar H. Farrar, President of the association, New Orleans, La.; George Whitlock, Secretary, Baltimore, Md.; Frederick E. Wadham, Treasurer, Albany, N. Y.; W. Thomas Kemp, Baltimore; Charles Henry Butler, New York; Simeon E. Baldwin, New Haven, Conn.; Otto R. Barnett, Chicago, Ill.; William W. Smithers, Philadelphia, Pa.; William R. Vance, Yale Law School, New Haven, Conn.; George P. Costigan, Jr., Northwestern University School of Law, Chicago, Ill., and many others whose names are known wherever the students of Blackstone congregate.

Aside from the weighty matters up for discussion every effort has been made to insure a pleasant entertainment program for the visiting legal lights and their families. These will include the annual dinner of the association at the Hotel Somerset, Thursday evening; automobile excursions to the many historical points of interest that maintain in Boston; a steamboat excursion to Salem Harbor, the North Shore and return and many semi-official social functions.

On ice.

"Yes," said Alkali like, "a couple of oow punchers indulged in a very pretty scientific scrap down at Bad Bucke's yesterday."

"It is wonderful how cool those fellows keep under the circumstances," remarked the eastern tourist.

"Yass, they certainly have to be kept cool, stranger. I believe for some reason or other, their funerals ain't to be for a couple o' days yet."

Banishment for One

Suddenly the fluffy haired blonde giggled, quite without reference to remarks made by anyone or to the marquisette blouse upon which she was embroidering an elaborate design. The other members of the sewing circle looked up inquiringly.

"Well," demanded young Mrs. Allison, suspiciously. "Has anyone said something funny or is it last week's joke taking root?"

The fluffy haired blonde nodded emphatically. "How clever you are, Celeste!" she said. "That's it, exactly. I was terribly annoyed at the time, but all of a sudden just now I saw how funny it was."

"It!" repeated young Mrs. Allison, with growing scorn. "It! Try to be coherent, my love. We are waiting to advise you on the subject."

"Well," said the fluffy haired blonde, with another giggle, "you know my little brother—"

"The proverbial small boy," murmured young Mrs. Allison, with a groan.

"L'enfant terrible," put in the girl who affected French quotations.

The fluffy haired blonde scowled at them both, impartially. "Just a plain little brother," she corrected, with sternness. "His name is Edward and most of you know him perfectly well. Now, am I telling this story or am I not?"

The girl who affected French quotations retired to her fancy work with offended dignity, but young Mrs. Allison beamed with visible joy at having a drawn heated retort. "Go on, dear," she urged, sweetly. "We love to hear you prattle of your innocent baby brother."

The fluffy haired blonde smiled in turn. "Baby brother is going into long trousers before school opens in the fall," she informed them. "As for his being innocent—oh, well, it wasn't his fault this time, anyway."

"You know," she went on, "he has a big yellow brute of a cat he calls Saunders, though I'm sure I don't know why."

"I do," said young Mrs. Allison. She nodded around the sewing circle, meaningly. "We lived in the same block with Saunders for a year. He's canny, let me tell you. I know that cat personally. He used to lick the tops of my cream bottles of a morning—never the milk bottles. But I didn't argue the matter with him, because I was always too much awed by his apparent contempt for the whole human race. When he walked down the back steps and went over the fence the very flip of his tail was eloquent of his low opinion of the quality of my cream. Moreover, I was forced to agree with him," she added.

"Well," said the fluffy haired blonde, gravely, "I believe you're right. Saunders is not—um—open to argument, but he scorns deception and he's shrewd. He eats our neighbor's squabs by the dozen, but he eats them in broad daylight, when the neighbor hesitates to wring his neck, as I should. But Edward loves him with a positively touching devotion and has him in the library every evening at study time."

"Night before last, however, the Desseltons were dining with us, and both Mrs. Desselton and Ernestine are mortally afraid of cats. Ernestine shrieks if one comes into the room and Mrs. Desselton likes one about as much as you like a snake. So Edward's little playmate was put in the garage and the garage door supposedly was shut. Very likely it was really shut, too, for there are a score of convenient cracks around the floor and the windows which an enterprising cat can get through, though Edward maintains learnedly that no feline will attempt to escape through any hole where his whiskers touch."

"Anyway, we had all gone into the library after a comfortable dinner and father was entertaining us with the hopes of his summer fishing trip. Mother had just gone upstairs to get a picture to show Mrs. Desselton, when the bell rang and the maid brought me a card. It was Mr. S. Bennington Saunders, who has come here from the east to live, you know."

"I slipped through the drawing room to meet him and bring him in for an introduction, and just as I got half way in and he was approaching with a bland smile and an outstretched hand I heard mother's retorting step on the stair and mother's terrific voice from the landing."

"Edward!" she cried. "Edward! Saunders has got in. Come and put him out at once. Hurry, I tell you!"

The fluffy haired blonde laughed ruefully. "Edward came," she said. "For myself, I had only time to gasp once."

"There before me stood S. Bennington Saunders, with one hand outstretched, but paralyzed with dismay. His face turned from a sickly white to a fiery red while I was struggling to find my voice. Finally, without a word, he dropped his arm and walked into the hall."

"Then I came to and rushed after him. 'Don't go!' I entreated. 'Oh, don't go, Mr. Saunders. It's—it's not you, you know. It's Saunders—the cat.'"

"I held out my hand this time and he took it hesitatingly. Then, as the truth dawned upon him, he grinned nobly."

"But, I say," he protested, as I led him toward the family, "I say, you know, you do have the most extraordinary name for your pet."

SEABOARD RAILROAD FACES DAMAGE SUITS IN HAMLET WRECK

Special to Telegram.

Durham, N. C., Aug. 28.—Suits aggregating $32,000 were brought Saturday by the law firm of Bryant and Brodgen, the claims being the result of the Hamlet wreck and for three of the worst injured colored people who lost their lives in that July slaughter.

The actions are brought by Dr. S. L. Warren, administrator upon the estate of James Warren, who died in the Charlotte hospital, and by Lewis Hall, father of the two girls, Edna and Edith Hall, who were killed outright at Hamlet. The Warren suit is for $12,000 and the Hall litigations are for $10,000 each.

Without disparaging any of the scores of claims brought against the road, the three actions are brought for three of the best colored people of Durham. Everybody knew James Warren, the big stalwart old man, who had accumulated property and had been so faithful in the George W. Watts family that he had been pensioned. He was one of the best known colored men in the city. The Hall girls were aged twenty and seventeen, Edna Hall having been a clerk in the Carolina Mutual Life Insurance company, while her sister was being educated at Mary Potter school at Oxford. She had finished there and stood the teachers' examination for certificate in July.

Lewis Hall, their father, had mortgaged his home place to put them through school and his loss in the girls is not to be weighed lightly. Besides these, there is the third girl, Margaret, aged fourteen, who was badly hurt, the family suffering peculiar misfortune. This was the only family that lost two of its members in that wreck.

This law firm settled more than 30 cases outside the courts, leaving the three dead claims and three of the injured still without agreement. The number removed from the realm of litigation is unusually large and the claim agents are still working upon them, there being more than a hundred in all.

TOBACCO TRUST STARTS REORGANIZATION PLAN.

Officials and Government Representative Meet, and Wickersham Says Progress is Made.

New York, Aug. 28.—The first meeting of officers and attorneys of the American Tobacco Company and associate corporations, and representatives of the judicial department of the government, to discuss a reorganization of the tobacco trust in accordance with the mandate of the Supreme Court was held today, and in the words of Attorney General Wickersham, made encouraging progress. Another meeting will be held August 31, and as often thereafter as the Federal representatives deem it necessary, to formulate a plan to receive its final test at a public hearing. The time to complete the reorganization, as fixed by the United States Supreme Court, expires December 30th.

Only the broad scope of the reorganization suggested by the corporation's attorneys was submitted to the conference today. None of those who attended would discuss its details, which are being carefully guarded until a scheme is worked out which the judges of the United States court can fully approve. When he left the meeting today Attorney General Wickersham said:

"The court thought some plan should be worked out before the expiration of the period allowed for the reorganization. I think we are making progress. Present indications are encouraging."

Today's conference was attended by Judges Lacombe and Noyes, Attorney General Wickersham and James G. Reynolds on behalf of the court, and representatives of the American Tobacco Company, James B. Duke, its president, and the following counsel: James Parker, W. W. Fuller, Thomas Fuller and Delancey Nicoll. William B. Hornblower attended as counsel for the Imperial Tobacco Company, and Sol M. Strook as counsel for the United Cigar Stores Company.

Get Little for Their Furs.

Furs are collected in great numbers along the upper waters of the Yukon river. The Indian or white trapper is often satisfied with a price hardly commensurate with market value, even after deducting the cost of marketing. When taken to the United States, a price two or three times that paid by the trapper is obtained for many of the furs.

ENGINEERS HOLD MEETING IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The convention of the Traveling Engineers' Association, which begins tomorrow at the Hotel Sherman, has brought to Chicago a small army of "knights of the steel rails," who gather to improve the locomotive engine service of American railroads. It is the preamble of the organization. It will be the nineteenth annual meeting of the society.

Secretary W. O. Thompson of East Buffalo, N. Y., speaking of the membership of the association today, said that the men who will attend the opening of the convention tomorrow represent over thirty million miles of traveling.

The convention will continue for four days, adjourning on Friday. Simultaneously with it, the association of Supplymen is conducting an exhibit of trainmen's supplies, which is declared to be the largest collection of its kind ever shown. The exhibit was opened to the public today.

There are several live issues which will come up for discussion and action during the course of the convention, including the union problem.

ELDRIDGE WON OVER SHEESLEY LAST SATURDAY

Eldridge won a pitcher's battle with Sheesley Saturday, and the game came Greensboro's way by a score of 2 to 1. But for errors behind the Hornet twirler, Charlotte would have had the game won at the end of the ninth by a score of 1 to 0. That Eldridge pitched good ball is shown by the fact that he allowed only five hits, one run and three men left on bases in 11 full innings.

The locals first run came in the second inning when errors were made by Siegfried and Garman that filled the bases. Carroll hit a sacrifice fly and Doak scored. In the 11th frame Loman, Carroll, Stuart and Eldridge lined out four singles in a row and Loman scored. The work of Agnew and Doyle was the feature.

The Patriots have gone to Spartanburg to play the Musicians today, tomorrow and Wednesday. Thursday they will move down to Anderson for the final series of the season. The Patriots are three games behind Winston, and while they have a possibility of winning the pennant, it does not amount to a probability. But in baseball you never can tell.

The Greensboro and Greenville teams of the Carolina Association will play in Wilmington next Monday—Labor Day.

ANDERSON TAKES ANOTHER GAME FROM THE MUSICIANS.

Spartanburg, Aug. 26.—Wolfe allowed but two scratch hits in today's game and as a result The Musicians made but one run, this being on the first frame. The Electricians pounded on Combs and Ferrell for 15 hits and scored 9 runs.

Score: R. H. E.
Anderson 130 001 130—9 15 2
Spartanburg 100 000 000—1 2 1
Batteries—Wolfe and Brannon, Combs, Ferrell and Westlake.

TWINS TAKE CLOSE GAME FROM STOUCH'S SPINNERS.

Winston, Aug. 26.—The Twins nosed out a close victory this afternoon, the score being 2 and 3. Swindell was touched for 7 hits, three coming in the first inning. The game was close and exciting.

Score: R. H. E.
Winston 200 001 000—3 8 2
Greenville 200 000 000—2 7 0
Batteries—Swindell and Dailey, Watson and Kite.

BRIDGE WINS HIM A SHAVE.

Man is Absolved From Vow, Sacrifices Whiskers as First Team Crosses.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 28.—Jones Pendleton, 81 years old, walked into a barber shop yesterday as soon as the bridge across the Connecticut river had been opened. His face was covered with the most luxurious beard in the State—reaching nearly to his waist—and his features were hardly visible.

"Take 'em off," he said to the surprised barber. "I've kept my vow. The bridge is finished."

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." FEAR OF LIGHTNING KILLS.

Terror of Flash Too Much for Woman's Weak Heart.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Aug. 28.—In deadly fear of thunderstorms Mrs. Daniel Ferguson fell unconscious at a window in her home when a vivid flash of lightning and a loud crash of thunder frightened her. When a doctor arrived she was dead from heart failure superinduced by fear of the lightning flash. She had been aroused by the roar of an approaching storm and had left her bed to close an open window. Just as she reached it she was blinded by the flash and fell screaming to the floor. There was no indication that she was struck by the bolt.

ANY BRIDE SATISFIED HIM

In India, When the Groom's First Choice Balked, He Accepted a Volunteer.

The Youth's Companion recounts a story of a wedding described in Dr. Winifred Weston's "A Bluestocking in India."

"Yesterday I went to a native Christian wedding. Many guests had assembled and the ceremony had progressed to the point where Mr. Grey asked the bride:

"Do you take this man to love, cherish and obey?" when the young woman in the case responded with a surprising and unmistakable "No!"

"Mr. Grey labored with her in an undertone, but to no avail. The marriage, as usual, being arranged by the parents without consulting the daughter. But it is almost an unknown thing for a girl to be so bold and disobedient. The situation was then explained to the assembled guests, and volunteers were asked to supply the vacancy. A young woman promptly came forward and the ceremony proceeded as if nothing had happened."

"Afterward the bride pair left the altar by different aisles to hold a reception under a tree, where congratulations and rice were poured upon them. The groom placed a silver ring upon the great toe of the bride's left foot, and a 'best man' tied the groom's neck scarf to the bride's flowing garment, and thus they sat in state for some hours."

COULDN'T HEAR SCHOOL BELL

Fascinations of the Bright June Morning Made Boy Deaf to Call of Duty.

A big bumblebee lay helpless upon a plantain leaf under the morning glory vine—a sad example of the effects of too much intoxicating drink. He had imbibed honey freely all the day before and now, past eight o'clock of a bright June morning, when his fellows had been at work for hours, he sprawled, half paralyzed, a shocking sight to busy people.

I took a blade of grass and tickled him gently in his yellow plush region. He raised one leg—he was lying on his side—and waved it toward me in feeble protestation. The gesture spoke plainly. It said: "Lemme 'lone, can't yer. Jus' wanta have 'lil' nap."

A little nap! A little nap, indeed, on that morning when all the garden was rustling and humming and whirling and twittering with life. The robin, who was the father of a hungry family living in the apple tree, was hunting worms on the lawn; the porcupine had been open for half an hour—ever since the sun had touched them; the fat toad who lived near the yellow lilies was awake and looking about with slyly twinkling eyes (he had probably been up all night, too); and the morning glories had been unfolded since daylight. The school bell rang. But I did not hear it. A school bell on such a morning? No, I did not hear it.—The Outlook.

CLEGG'S UP-TOWN CAFE

A. NIXON, Proprietor.

At Pine Hill Junction

A statistician has hunted up the figures to prove that 98 out of every 100 true lovers have at least one quarrel before marriage. The two per cent. who escape the quarrel are not worth writing about. They really know nothing about love.

Miss Mildred Christie and Charles Osgood belonged to the 98 per cent. and more. The young lady had it down in her diary that they had quarreled five times in the six months they had been engaged. It is of no use to ask what lovers quarrel about. When they feel like it they can get up a row about the man in the moon.

Five foolish quarrels and five blissful make-ups and the sixth quarrel under way within ten minutes after Charles Osgood had entered the parlor of the Christie mansion on a certain evening.

Miss Mildred had been shopping in the afternoon. She had met a gentleman of her acquaintance who had had the misfortune to lose a leg and had a cork one to replace it. They had stood on a street corner and chatted for five minutes. Mr. Osgood had passed by on the other side and noticed it and from that moment a thundercloud rested on his intellectual brow. He carried it to the Christie mansion with him. It was noticed as soon as he entered and was met with the query:

"Well, I suppose I've committed murder again?"

"Miss Christie," answered the thunder cloud, "I saw you today talking with a man on the street!"

"Well?"

"That man has a cork leg! I know him and I know he has a cork leg! Can you not understand—can you never be made to understand that—?"

"I prefer a man with a cork leg to one with a wooden head, Mr. Christie!"

"Meaning me?"

"As you like it!"

Mr. Christie arose. The thunder cloud deepened. The lightning flashed. He wanted to strike and shatter and destroy, but he held to himself until he had made a frigid bow and left the house and then took it out on a newsboy who asked him if he wanted to sell his face. The sixth and last Weeks and months went by. No notes—no bouquets—no calls! The ice man went his rounds and the big world moved on.

On a certain railroad in the United States is a junction called Pine Hill. Trains there connect with a trolley line. At the junction there is a shed and a platform.

On a certain summer day there were three arrivals at the junction within an hour. The first arrival was a farmer's wife who plumped down on a hard seat and exclaimed:

"Now, then, I wopse I've got to wait here 'till the cows come home!"

The next arrival was Charles Osgood.

Then the hob-tailed trolley car rolled in from somewhere and there was a third arrival. Miss Mildred Christie, who had been visiting country relatives, walked in and took a seat. Mr. Osgood gave a gasp. The farmer's wife uttered a chuckle. Miss Mildred was about to give a start and turn pale when she brought all her resolution to bear and didn't do it.

"Nice day?" said the farmer's wife from her seat, eight feet away.

No answer.

"Nice hot day?"

No answer.

"But not as hot as a year ago today when I was almost sunstruck. Lordy, but they thought I was a goner!"

Mr. Osgood was looking at the board wall and Miss Christie had her eyes on the floor. The farmer's wife went out on the platform for ten minutes, and then stroked back. No change in the situation.

"I wish there was an old cow here for me to talk to!" sighed the woman as she sat down. "If you two folks are dummies why don't you carry slates to write on? I fell down and bit my tongue once and couldn't talk for a week. I had to write with a piece of chalk, and I tell you I kept my old man busy. If you are dummies you needn't be ashamed to say so. I'm not the one to make fun of anybody."

Miss Christie wanted to giggle, but she didn't.

Mr. Osgood wanted to smile, but he didn't.

"Well, I'll go out again," said the farmer's wife as she rose up. "I'm no good at talk, but I'll be numskunked if I can bear to sit around like a bump on a log. If you two people want to sit and sit and never move a toe then go right ahead. If I was a girl again that stuck of a fellow would either be talking to me or I'd know the reason why!"

Walk, walk, walk, for five minutes, and then the farmer's wife came near.

If "Bargain Hunting" Is Extravagance, Isn't It Strange That Bargain Hunt- ers Can Always Afford It!

And haven't you noticed that, even if the family income is not at all great, the bargain hunting woman always seems to have the money with which to indulge her "extravagance?"

This fact should teach her critics something—perhaps teach them that the fixed habit of intelligent buying, based upon a persistent study of the ads, is a form of "extravagance" that should prevail in every home in the land!

MANY

Applicants Before Court For License to Prac- tice Law In State.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—Ninety-one applicants for license to practice law are standing examinations today before the North Carolina Supreme court. Of this number one is a lady, Mrs. Brye, of Bryson City, and four are negroes. There are 11 more applicants than have ever applied at the opening of any previous term of court.

The court will call the appeals from the first district for argument Tuesday morning.

HIGH ARMY OFFICERS TO GO.

Nearly a Dozen Men of Field Grade are Slated for Retirement.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The compulsory retirement act of the War Department has been raised over the heads of nearly a dozen high ranking officers of the army, all of field grade, including majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels of the infantry and cavalry.

Orders are now being prepared for their appearance before retiring boards.

The fact that practically all have either been examined for promotion or have taken the Roosevelt annual horsemanship test within the last year would indicate that they are suspected of being generally disqualified for their duties.

This is the largest number of officers of the higher grades to be ordered up for retirement, and is traceable to the new policy of the War Department to examine an officer from a mental and moral point of view as well as physically to determine whether he is "capable" of the service of his rank. More than a dozen officers already have been retired since the first of the year under this ruling and still others are on the slate.

The unusually large number of retirements is resulting in rapid promotions in all grades of the military service. Within the next few years, at this rate, the mean age of colonels, it is expected, will have been reduced by four or five years, the lieutenant colonels by three or four years and the majors by two or three years.

PROTEST

Against Release of Van- schaick Made by Slo- cum Survivors.

New York, Aug. 28.—The organization known as the "General Slocum Survivors" will enter a stout protest against the release of Capt. H. Vanschaick, who has been in Sing Sing serving a nine year sentence as a result of the disaster. He has served three years of his sentence.

New York, Aug. 28.—Captain William H. Van Schaick, who was commander of the excursion steamer General Slocum when it burned in Hell Gate, June 15, 1904, with a loss of a thousand lives, was paroled by the United States government and returned to his home in this city from Sing Sing prison.

It was a surprise to his wife and family and to the captain himself. The old man, now seventy-two years of age, was almost overcome when Warden John S. Kennedy, of Sing Sing, told him that parole papers had arrived from Attorney-General Wickersham.

Following the historic catastrophe, the captain of the Slocum was made a Federal prisoner on a charge of criminal negligence of duty for the failure to have provided worthy fire protection and life preservers on the steamer. At the time of Captain Van Schaick's conviction, there was considerable popular sympathy for him, because all the punishment for the terrible accident fell on his shoulders. Even the families of the victims came to feel the seeming injustice of his bearing the burden alone and many of them signed a petition for the captain's pardon, which was sent to Washington.

Johnny Cake's Name.

Johnny cake is certainly about as queer bread as was ever got up. Tip has never seen any true account of it whatsoever. Pone dough is molded around an iron musket ramrod or on a long green strong switch and held over the fire until roasted or baked, or whatever you call it. In old times Gen. Forrest's men cooked cornmeal rations, hence Johnny cake. Johnny Reb. Tip has heard old Texas say that Sam Houston to his dying day ate such corn cakes, which he learned to make from his long life among the nomads.—New York Press.

ATWOOD

And Graham Will Give Competitive Aerial Exhibition This Week.

Atlantic, Mass., Aug. 28.—Harry N. Atwood and Claude Graham are expected to give some remarkable exhibitions at the aero meet this week. Atwood claims that when he was working in a garage he was snubbed by Graham and that he is anxious to have an opportunity to prove his superiority over Graham. The rivalry between the two is expected to stimulate both of the aviators to their best efforts.

MR. MOORE WRITES OF EXCURSION TO ATLANTIC CITY.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—The splendidly conducted excursion trains out of North Carolina to Atlantic City have dumped out here among the teeming masses of humanity from everywhere, something like 15,000 people, and as I am an humble participant in the benefits of low rates, and fine service of the Southern to this point I have decided to give you a brief account of our trip. We (my wife and daughter) boarded the train at Brown Summit at 10:45 p. m. Aug. 22, and arrived here at 7:30 p. m. on the 24th, found our hotel, and at once divested ourselves of travel-stained garments, lunched and proceeded to get ready for the enjoyments of the boardwalk and the surf. There are here now about 300,000 people from almost every known point accessible to Atlantic City spending their vacations. Everybody is bent on getting the most enjoyment and information out of the trip. Everywhere you bump up on acquaintances and friends, among the masses, and just here it would be well to mention some of the enjoyments and pleasures offered. The surf first of all is the finest on the Atlantic coast; beach very flat, offering the very best facilities for bathing, and while I pen you these hurried dots, there are not less than 25,000 happy bathers out enjoying the gentle swell and snowcapped breakers—in every conceivable idea of bathing costume. Old grey bearded men and their wives and daughters from the cities, towns and villages, in the Southland, have thrown care aside and entered fully into the enjoyment of the time and place, and everywhere you see contentment, anticipation and the fulfillment of all expectations written on every countenance. Care, worry and all responsibility for the future seem to have been left at home and everyone goes in for that which presents itself.

The boardwalk is something like 70 feet wide, as clean and white as snow, about 7 1/2 miles long, and beautifully lighted at night by every conceivable design, in artistic electric advertising. There are three magnificent piers, reaching far out in the ocean, and on each of these are gathered together every imaginable form of amusement. You pay for your entrance and get the benefit of all, besides the grand sea breeze—from comfortable chairs and seats of every kind, placed at every pleasant nook and corner for comfort.

Many of our party are taking our tickets to New York today so that they may go out and view Coney Island on Sunday. Of course we look for a crowd there on the boardwalk and in the surf. But after taking in some of the sights of New York city and its adjuncts, we will come back here and spend our time to the limit, reserving only a few days in Washington, D. C., sight-seeing.

In closing I would say that if the Southern Railway continues to run its annual excursions to this place at its present low rates and on the plane of this one we shall certainly avail ourselves of the splendid service and come up here for a time, throw care to the winds and accept what the gods offer.

J. RICH MOORE.

TALK OF CARDINAL

GIBBONS FOR POPE

Washington, Aug. 28.—Washington prelates say that an American Pope is a possibility, as shown by the fact that Cardinal Gibbons has been mentioned as successor to the present pontiff.

Manager William T. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's church, said today that he could see no reason why the selection of Pope would necessarily be from the cardinals of Europe.

Asked if he believed it would be detrimental to the Catholic Church for an American to be selected, Dr. Russell replied that he saw no objection to an American in the Vatican. Others expressed the same opinion.

At present the sacred college, which selects the Pope is divided. One faction upholds Cardinal Rampolla while the other faction believes that after so many years of Italian pontiffs, one of some other nation should be chosen.

Deposed King of Portugal Is Taking His Exile Cheerfully

FORMER KING MANUEL of Portugal is apparently enjoying his life in England. He is drawing a pension of $3,300 a month and has none of the worries of state. The above picture shows him and King Alfonso of Spain on the steps of the Hotel Ritz, in London, and the contrast in the faces of the two young men is striking. The deposed ruler seems much more cheerful than the one who still holds his throne. The woman in the picture is ex-Queen Amelle of Portugal, widow of the assassinated ruler and mother of the one who was deposed.

PAROLE FOR ELUSIVE CONVICT.

Man Who Escaped Five Times to Be Let Out on Ticket of Leave.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 28.—James E. Cushman, the Jean Valjean of Michigan, at present serving a 30-year sentence in Marquette prison for robbery, will be paroled by the pardon board September 1. Cushman, who is just past 30 years of age, is the smoothest man ever locked behind the bars, according to prison authorities. During his career he has made his escape from Jackson prison five times but each time he was recaptured. Jackson prison authorities say they know he could escape from that institution at any time if he cared to, and for that reason he was transferred to Marquette last December together with Burke, Boyce and Thompson, the confessed dynamite plotter who made plans to blow up the Jackson institution.

Cushman never injured an officer in his escapes, but always managed to make his get-away by means of some clever scheme. One one escape he donned the garb of a guard and walked past an officer, who saluted him as such. Another time he placed himself in a box and was shipped out of the prison.

PUTTING ON TROUSERS FATAL.

Man Loses Balance and Falls Out of Third Story Window.

New York, Aug. 28.—Simon Heinbach, 60 years old, tumbled out of the third story window in his home at No. 326 East Fifty-second street today, and was mortally injured. Heinbach was putting on his trousers near the window which looks out on a rear courtyard. The window has a very low sill. He got one leg in all right and was raising the other leg to complete the act of inserting himself into his trousers when he lost his balance and pitched headlong through the window. His wife managed to catch hold of the loose leg of the falling man's trousers, but the garment came off in her hands and the heavy man fell clear of the window to the cement pavement.

Both his legs were broken and his skull was fractured.

TWO MAY FACE COURT MARTIAL.

"Lost" Middles' Fate Now With The Navy Department.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The fate of Midshipmen Charles L. Clifford of Boston, and Gaston L. Holmes, of Pontotoc, Miss., members of the second class at the Naval Academy, who recently were lost for a week in Norway, now rests with the Navy Department. The report of Commander Robert E. Coontz, which was mailed on arrival of the training squadron at Solomons Island, has reached the department, and, after a review, has been returned to Commander Coontz. It is thought probable that a court martial is in store for the young men. Clifford and Holmes, according to the official report of Commander Coontz, became separated from the cadet battalion while on an excursion from Bergen to Finse, Norway, July 20. Their absence was not noticed until after the train returned to Bergen, where the squadron was anchored.

The squadron sailed July 24, and Lieutenant Van Auker was left behind with a squad of men and the collier Vulcan to continue a search. On July 26 he found the midshipmen at a country place between Finse and Christiania, and they set sail at once, rejoining the battalion at Gibraltar August 5.

What explanation the young men gave for their separation from the party and their absence without leave for more than two weeks is not made known by the Navy Department.

Strike Situation Improved.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The strike situation among the teamsters and railroad men has cleared up today, owing to the conference between labor leaders and officials of the Harriman lines of railroads.

FAYETTEVILLE GETS NEW LINE RAILROAD

Special to Telegram.

Fayetteville, Aug. 28.—The Rockfish and Aberdeen Railroad will be built to Fayetteville—not rumor. The road is already built from Rockfish to Treefall (Steele Mill) in seventy-first township, and the work of completion to Fayetteville will be taken up. Treefall is about 20 miles from this city.

The line will be by no means an air line through Seventy-first, but that will of itself insure to the benefit of the people in that section, as a larger area of the township will thus be traversed.

The completion of the road to this point will put Fayetteville on a direct line to Ræford and Aberdeen, and from Aberdeen through to Charlotte and points south via the Seaboard Air Line.

SEVERAL CASES IN

MUNICIPAL COURT TODAY.

In the Municipal Court this morning several cases were tried and the following judgements were rendered.

Arthur Klapp was given six months on the county roads for retailing. Bob Simmons, Will Layton and Charles Glenn, two white and one colored, were convicted on charge of engaging in an affray. Simmons and Glenn were dismissed on payment of $5 each and costs and judgment was suspended in regard to Layton on payment of costs.

Calvin Holt, brought before the judge for being drunk and disorderly, was fined $7.50 and costs.

Sallie Smith was given 30 days in the work house for vagrancy.

The case against H. D. Blake for maintaining a nuisance in a surface closed was carried over until Saturday.

LAYS WOE TO MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Wife, Answering Divorce Plea, Says Results Drove Her Out.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 28.—Mrs. James Wilson, wife of the superintendent of the schools in Dickson City, filed an answer this afternoon to the action in divorce recently begun by her husband, in which she makes some sensational allegations and demands a jury trial.

Mrs. Wilson, who comes from one of the most prominent families in the county, alleges that she was forced to leave her husband's home by insults heaped upon her by her mother-in-law, and from which her husband refused to protect her. She also charges him with having borrowed from her large sums of money with which he built tenement houses, the title of which he put in his own name.

SHAFT TAKES GIRL'S HAIR.

Leaves Her Entirely Bald Without Juring the Scalp.

Toms River, N. J., Aug. 28.—While out for a motorboat ride, 7-year-old Edith Cottrell, of Princeton, lost all her hair when it caught in the shaft of the propeller. It is first was thought the little girl was seriously injured, but in a few hours she was playing around as usual. Edith was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Phil and climbed into the motorboat with Phil to come to town. On the way the girl had to go under a bridge. Phil ducked his head to keep from being hit by the bridge, and the little girl did the same. Her long hair fell over her face and caught in the propeller shaft, wound around it and was ripped from the scalp without tearing the skin. She was left completely bald, but, except for the burn made by the friction of the rapidly revolving shaft on her head, there were no wounds, and physicians say the hair will grow again.

MEETING OF POULTRY

ASSOCIATION TUESDAY NIGHT.

There will be an important meeting of the Guilford Poultry Association on Tuesday night. The Telegram is requested to state that all persons interested in standard bred poultry are requested to be present as matters pertaining to the winter poultry show will be considered. The meeting will be held in the Southern Life & Trust building.
